

Dear Friends,

Summer is unofficially here and with that so are wildlife in abundance. We are reaching out to you today because our new film in progress on the Wisdom of Nature will be featuring local wildlife shots and we need your help to find them!

Do you live in a neighborhood where you regularly see bears, foxes, bobcats and other mammals? If so, we'd love to hear from you. We'll be setting up wildlife cameras in a few locations as well as send out camera crews in places where the wildlife tends to hang out. CONTACT US so we can work with you to get nature shots that will help us tell the story spotlighting the glory of nature.

TRANSCRIBERS NEEDED

Speaking of needs, one of our biggest needs right now is for transcribers to help us reduce interviews to paper. Unlike narrative film, documentary film scripts are usually created AFTER the production is completed based on the transcripts of the interviews we've done. We have an excellent group of transcribers who have worked on several films, but several are having family emergencies and other issues, leaving us short.
